

THE OXFORD & CAMBRIDGE
SYMPOSIUM ON ENTERPRISE,
ETHICS & DEVELOPMENT
(SEED)

WILL BE HOLDING A PRACTICE-DRIVEN SYMPOSIUM at the
FRIENDS MEETING HOUSE, JESUS LANE, CAMBRIDGE

— on —

ENTERPRISE FOR FLOURISHING

7th July 2017
2.00 – 5.30 pm

SUPPORTED BY TRANSFORMING BUSINESS, FIVE TALENTS, SALT AND THE TRANSFORMATIONAL BUSINESS NETWORK

This action-oriented event will be followed by a Garden Party (6.30-8.00 pm) at Cambridge's magnificent river-side Magdalene College hosted by its Master, the former Archbishop of Canterbury Lord Rowan Williams.

Lord Williams will also chair SEED. Meeting alternately in Oxford and Cambridge, this symposium is a unique initiative, designed to stimulate a dialogue between leaders in business, academia and civil society that will contribute in concrete ways to both theory and practice.

All those coming to SEED are encouraged not merely attend and observe; they are invited to participate by sharing their knowledge, perspectives and experience. Instead of lectures and keynote addresses, discussion initiators (all experts in their field), speak for a maximum of six minutes.

An inspirational engagement that SEEDS practical change.

LEARN MORE

BOOK NOW